

AN ADVENTUREsome
EXPERIENCE

ADVENTURE SOME EXPERIENCE SPRING CAMP '87

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Beginning at lunch and ending at lunch the next day, the A.O.P. class will design and implement an overnight adventure program for the O.R.A. class. The Team Adventure Consultants Inc. (T.A.C.I.) will be on location in their field office to approve program and assist A.O.P. leaders with some aspects of program delivery.

OBJECTIVES

1. To provide the A.O.P. class with the opportunity to design an adventure program.
2. To provide the A.O.P. class the opportunity to lead a small group on an overnight.
3. To examine leadership strengths and stretches in relation to a specific program and a leadership team.
4. To participate in a program evaluation which is based on an actual program.
5. To get to know some Recreation Management students.
6. To learn something about self and others.
7. To have fun.

LOGISTICS

The planning process will begin during lunch on A.O.P. day 5. At lunch A.O.P. leadership teams will begin to identify procedures for implementing a program design process. A significant portion of the afternoon will be given to program design and consultation arrangements. Program will be implemented until 11:30 am A.O.P. day 6. At this time the A.O.P. class will begin to evaluate program and process the experience.

ADVENTURE SOME EXPERIENCE
SPRING CAMP '87

PROGRAM CRITERIA

The following criteria will be used to guide program development.

1. A program design process which addresses needs assessment through to program evaluation will be utilized.
2. Consideration will be given to the value and nature of adventure, specifically the ten values and fourteen characteristics identified in class. PLEASE RE-AQUAINT YOURSELF !
3. Programs will be conducted with the highest consideration for safety and environmentally sound practice.
4. Consultants will be used to assist with aspects of the program which require specific technical skills.
5. Written program plans will be approved by the President of T.A.C.I. . Program route cards will remain at the T.A.C.I. office.
6. Consultation by appointment only.
7. Leaders are responsible for the care, maintenance, and 'clean' return of all equipment.
8. Overnight locations will be considered in conjunction with program design.

*ADVENTUREsome EXPERIENCE BY.....

TEAM ADVENTURE CONSULTANTS INC. *****